The Situation in Missouri.

The rebel guerrillas, under Shelby and Coffey, appear to have possession of all Southwest Missouri. They are tearing up the railroad track at California, twenty-five miles west from Jefferson City, and have burnt a large bridge at Abernethy. They have burned the towns of Cole Camp, Benton county, Florence, Morgan county, Hannuville, Polk county, and Greenfield County House. Sedalia is thought to be safe. Gen. Brown is supposed to be in the rear of the rebels, and Gen. Totten commands at Sedalia. Booneville is threatened, and guerrillas have robbed localities three miles from Pilot Knob. The whole state is in danger, and loyal families are everywhere fleeing from destruction. Where is the state militia, petted by Schofield and Gamble, and paid by the nation? If they cannot protect their own state from marauding robbers, let them be mastered out, and a national force sent there, under a commander who is not afraid of hurting rebels.

Ohio and Pennsylvania.

These two great states are in a blaze of political excitement. The enthusiasm for the Union cause in the Key Stone state was never greater at a presidential election. Gov. Curtin had a magnificent reception in Philadelphia on Saturday; sixty thousand people were present, and in the evening there was a torchlight procession numbering twenty thousand. Gen. Sigel was received in the same manner at Pittsburg, and addressed an immense multitude, strongly urging them to vote the Union ticket. Gen. S. is to speak at Cleveland, Ohio, this afternoon. The cause looks bright in Ohio. The Vallandigham men are importing voters from the West and Canada, but they will be watched. We look for a Union victory in both these states, to-morrow.

MAJOR CALKINS ON THE WAR PATH.—A large and enthusiastic Union meeting was held at Madison on Monday night. Maj. E. A. Calkins, of the 3d Wisconsin cavalry, formerly editor of the Argus, made a destructive raid among the copperheads, hitting right and left, and denouncing with withering sarcasm the unparliamentary course of some of his former political associates.

SNARKED OFF.—The New York Tribune has the following:
Norris W. Bunnell, a copperhead of Burlington, Conn., being drafted, offered by note in the Hartford Times $500 for a substitute, "provided such substitute shall bring sufficient proof that he is the blackest abolitionist in the town where he resides. I want one of the John Brown style, or one of the Beecher's fighting Christians." None others need apply. Whereupon Mr. Case, a lawyer, who had already served six months in the Connecticut 22nd, and who, being from the village where the John Brown pikes were made, was universally admitted to be one of "Beecher's fighting Christians," offered himself to the astonished Mr. Bunnell, with ample vouchers as to his anti-slavery roundness. This was more than the cowardly copperhead counted upon, and after muttering himself that there was no quibble or loop-hole by which he could creep off, he, as all his tribe would do when fairly conquered, backed square down, and

The Point at Issue.

We had a word or two to say, the other day, to the Madison Patriot, on the point at issue as to the treatment of the rebel states, when the war has ended supposing it to result in the triumph of the Union arms.

The Patriot had stated that "the point" at issue is, can Louisiana, for instance, "authorize her citizens to buy other slaves, in place of those taken by our armies?" We are of the opinion that Louisiana no longer exists as a state. The state, in her sovereign capacity has rebelled and taken up arms against the nation, and by this crime has forfeited all her rights of sovereignty. If a few individuals had done this they would simply have lost their own rights as citizens; but as the large majority have done so in their organized capacity as a state government they have forfeited their rights both as individuals and members of the state.

The political rights of individuals are more sacred than those of a government since they are derived from the Supreme Being; and as it is not contended that a man may not divest himself of every right, even that of life, by committing the crime of rebellion, so it follows that the rights of a state, with others, have been delegated to a state government may be forfeited in like manner. As it requires only a majority to make a state constitution, a majority may unmake it, either by rebellion or by direct vote.

Louisiana has done this in both ways: She has rebelled in her state capacity, and the majority of her people have done it as individuals. In addition to this she called a state convention, abolished the constitution that existed prior to the rebellion, formed a new one, and acknowledged allegiance to the Confederate States government. This we learn from a speech delivered at Portland, Maine, by Gov. Shepley, military governor of Louisiana.

Now, we ask, has not Louisiana destroyed her state government, as it existed under the Union represented by the United States government and constitution? The answer must be in the affirmative. If every rebel in arms were to-day driven from her territory, what state authority would there be left, which could "authorize her citizens to buy other slaves in place of those taken by our armies," or perform any other act of state sovereignty? None whatever. She has abolished the constitution which was loyal to the nation, and committed the crime of rebellion, which forfeits all political rights.

By this we do not admit that the state has seceded—gone out of the Union—dissolved connection with the national authority—thrown off all allegiance to the central government, which the Patriot infers from our position. The federal authority over the people of Louisiana, and eminent domain in the soil which it purchased and paid for, is not impaired. It remains the same, but the state government has committed suicide and is dead. There is no legal authority in Louisiana but that of the federal government.

So we do not acknowledge the dogma of secession, and we trust the Patriot will do us the justice to correct the mis-statement. The difference between us is that the Patriot thinks Louisiana is in the Union as a state, and we think it is only in as a territory. The people of the latter owe as much allegiance to the national authority as ever, notwithstanding their great crime of rebellion—a sin is subject to his Maker though he sin ever so much. Our belief is that the nation can never die, but that states, counties, towns, corporations, and individuals may; sometimes without detriment to the general good.

The Patriot quotes Mr. Lincoln to prove that "the Union is unbroken," and that the "laws of the Union" must be faithfully executed "in all the states." If it believes what it quotes, we hope it will never again unfairly assault Mr. Lincoln for designing to destroy the states and establish a central despotism.

We, too, believe that federal laws, rightfully enacted, are paramount over every foot of the soil of the Union, but those laws can never "authorize" slavery anywhere. That is nowhere named in a constitution, formed, as its preamble sets forth, by the people of the United States, amongst other things, to "secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity." Liberty and slavery are as opposite as hell and heaven, and can never exist in the same place.

Because persons owning slaves were to be delivered by one state to the authorities of another, it cannot be supposed that the nation authorized slavery in its territories, or gave any protection to it anywhere. It was a state matter only, and the nation had nothing to do with it. In this we do not agree with Mr. Lincoln, nor never did. He is not authorized with us on that point. If the Patriot does, it would do well to support him better than it has done, even in relation to that matter.

As to the charge of garbling the article from the Patriot, we plead not guilty. We quoted what it said. Our inferences are our own, and if not sustained by proof, fall to the ground. The Patriot is sensitive where slavery is in danger, either from the war, by the crimes of the slaveholders, the proclamation of the president, or the arming of the blacks. In all these cases it rushes to the rescue. Our inference is that it desires to save slavery to be used hereafter as heretofore as a political power. This it does even at the risk of the cause of the Union. It has seemed to us that it cares more for slavery and party than for the country. We may be mistaken. In its article it acknowledges more than we expected. It says—"We acknowledged the right of hostile armies in a state of war, to take any, or if need be, all slaves in any insurgent state. This might be done by the army for war purposes, but cannot be done by proclamation." Why not? If a commander of a department can confiscate all the slaves by an order, why cannot the commander-in-chief do it by proclamation? Has not the president authority over the

The Copperhead Meeting.

As some of our readers are aware, Mr. Wakeley, the copperhead candidate for Attorney General, and G. B. Smith, of Madison, addressed a meeting of the pretended democracy, at the Court room, on Saturday evening last. There were, perhaps, 150 persons present, including a half dozen ladies and a considerable sprinkling of Union men.

Mr. Wakeley was the first speaker, and commenced by asserting that Mr. Brough, the Union candidate for Governor of Ohio, had threatened, that if Vallandigham was elected governor of Ohio, his inauguration would be forcibly prevented, and the state would be drenched in blood. The only authority which the speaker gave for this assertion was that it had been repeatedly charged in democratic papers, and never denied on the other side.

Every intelligent man knows, and the speaker ought to have known, that a denial of it appeared in the Chicago Tribune, of Friday last, that this charge is false. No such threat has ever been put forth by Mr. Brough. He has said that if Vallandigham was elected he would, undoubtedly, array the state against the war and the administration, and that such a course would lead to bloodshed in Ohio, and every candid man admits such would be the result. Treason can no more be tolerated on the part of a governor, than on that of private individuals, and it would be the duty of the general government to deal with it in the one case as in the other. There can be no doubt that the loyal men of the state of Ohio, and of the country, would stand by the government in putting down the treason which Vallandigham would attempt to inaugurate if he was elected governor of Ohio.

Yet, Mr. Wakeley, who claims to be a loyal man, attempted to construe the statement of a fact into a threat, and made an inflammatory appeal to his audience to be ready to resist the government. The balance of his speech consisted of a weak attempt to prove that H. L. Palmer is as loyal and as much in favor of a vigorous prosecution of the war, as Mr. Lewis, the Union candidate. It is unnecessary to add that this part of his speech was a signal failure, and proved what every loyal man knows, that a copperhead speaker is only strong when he is dealing in falsehood. In that, they seem to be at home.

Geo. B. Smith then followed with one of the most disgusting tirades of falsehood and treason to which it has ever been our lot to listen to.

He first asserted that the copperhead party was in favor of the war and that he was in favor of the war himself; but it must be a war conducted on copperhead principles, a war in which there was to be no confiscation of rebel property, no arresting of the aiders and abettors of treason. It must be a constitutional war, conducted strictly according to the construction of the constitution by Buchanan and Breckinridge. But the object of the war as now carried on he asserted was to destroy the women and children of the south. That the President had exerted his military authority over the officers and soldiers in the army in such a despotic way that he had forced them to support his "nigger policy." That they dare not speak out their sentiments, clearly charging that the noble men who are fighting the battles of our country have become the tools and slaves of a military despot at Washington.

Then with an inconsistency which only one class of persons fall into he attempted to prove that every victory of our arms had been won by democratic generals.

He of course thought the emancipation proclamation was the sole cause of our want of success in the field as it is the excuse which the copperheads make for supporting the cause of Jeff. Davis and opposing their country.

But soon after he asserted that for a year and a half after its commencement the government prosecuted the war with 1,400,000 men, spent $1,400,000,000, and did not get 1,400 feet into the rebel territory. But for

to tell his hearers that since the proclamation was put forth we had occupied nearly one half of the rebel territory; but it is useless to attempt to follow him through the web of misrepresentations, falsehoods and disloyalty which made up the staple of his talk.

He of course asserted that all freedom of speech had been destroyed by the despots at Washington, and he did this in the same breath that he was heaping the vilest abuse upon the administration and their mode of conducting the war, and calumniating all the officers in the army by asserting that they had basely given up their right of opinion and their manhood to retain their shoulder straps. When men with the black political record of Geo. B. Smith can go about uttering their foul abuse of our government and army and the war and giving all the aid and comfort they can to the rebels, it would be ludicrous if it were not the baseness of total depravity to hear them charge that freedom of speech had been destroyed in this country.

He closed by condemning the draft and trying to incite his hearers to disobedience to the laws and resistance to the authority of the government; of course he did not do this directly, but indirectly all he said on the subject of the draft tended directly to this result. We are more than ever convinced of the cruelty of punishing the ignorant and deluded among the people whose passions and prejudices are inflamed to madness by the harrangues of such base demagogues as George B. Smith and Vallandigham and letting these inciters of treason and crime escape. Let the government clear the fountain and the stream will flow pure.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.
BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE.
Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

Cano, Oct. 10.
Special to Chicago Journal.—I am in possession of late and reliable reports from Waverly, Tennessee. Five hundred guerrillas had concentrated at that point on the 6th inst. Our forces at Fort Donelson were not noticing their movements, and would have been infested by prowling bands for some time. On the 3d inst. one of those bands made a raid into Linton, robbed a French merchant of $800 worth of goods, and left the town with their horses' legs decorated with ribbons.

Navigation on the Cumberland river is reported entirely played out. A number of boats of large class, for some months in government service, are arriving here from below almost daily, having been discharged. All need repairs, which some will receive here, others, intending to go on the ways, go to Mount City and Paducah.

The weather is delightful here. K. Lookout Mountain, from which Bragg endeavored to bombard Rosecrans, is 1,800 feet higher than Chattanooga, three miles distant by wagon road, and less than two miles by a direct line. Missionary Ridge, where the rebel dispatches are dated, is about 1,000 feet high, three miles from Chattanooga by road, and two miles by air line. Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge nearly encircle Chattanooga, which lies in a basin formed by the mountains range around it.

Bragg has an open railroad communication with Rome, 40 miles, and Atlanta, 130 miles distant, whence he can bring up the heaviest siege guns cast at both these points. The Etowah shell works are 50 miles from Chattanooga, also connected therewith by railroad.

To-Day's Report.

(Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.)

MORNING DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.
Intelligence of an authentic character did not reach Washington till last night that the rebels had abandoned the line of the Rapidan and retreated in a southward direction. On the fact being known at Gen. Meade's headquarters yesterday morning, Gen. Buford's cavalry were sent across the Rapidan and found that the enemy had evacuated the south bank completely. On proceeding inland they came upon a portion of Stuart's cavalry, evidently covering the retreat of the rebel infantry. Considerable skirmishing ensued, but it did not result in our ascertaining whether the enemy had fallen back on Gordonsville, or whether it was attempting some flank movement to get between Meade's army and Washington, in a similar manner to Stonewall Jackson's movement on Pope, over the same ground. The prevailing impression seems to be that the rebels have gone to Gordonsville and Richmond, where a recent garriotte may be left, and the remainder of Lee's army sent to reinforce Bragg and Beauregard. If, on the contrary, the enemy is attempting a flank movement, our forces are fully prepared for it. Col. Porter, commissary at Gen. Meade's headquarters, has come up to night, and reports that the rebel evacuation of the line of the Rapidan is most complete, and has been very rapidly made.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.
As some fears have been produced for Rosecrans' safety, by published statements that no reinforcements had reached him up to the 8th inst., it may be said that advice from Chattanooga are satisfactory in this respect. He is not only stronger in the center, but his flanks are well protected by fresh troops.

Rumors again fly thick and fast regarding the retrograde movements of Lee's army and the advance of Meade's army. Nothing definite is known, and nothing can therefore be definitely said. Deserter from Lee's army report only two divisions of Longstreet's corps at Fort Fisher. Rickard's division, which was badly used up at Gettysburg, being left behind. None of A. P. Hill's corps was sent to Charleston and subsequently to Bragg, thus leaving in front of the army of the Potomac about 40,000, or two corps. The commanding general's headquarters were at Orange court house, Friday, but Lee has lately spent a large portion of his time at Richmond.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.
Special to Tribune.—The reply of the President to the address of the Missouri and Kansas delegations, is again postponed. The President having received a communication from a member of the cabinet whose sympathy with the wishes of the delegation is well known, has reserved his decision a few days longer, and withdrawn the document which was to have been delivered to Mr. Drake yesterday, from the hands of the copyist. Mr. Drake, a member of the Missouri delegation, left Washington last night.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

PORTSMOUTH, N.H., Oct. 10.
The steamer Circassian, from Pensacola, Key West, and Charleston, Bay, has arrived here. Reports that there was to be a combined army and naval attack on Charleston on the 11th. Yellow fever is very prevalent at Pensacola.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.
Floor 10a15e better, fair demand, at 57.75-95.95 for extra state. Wheat market excited, 34 1/2c better, at 1.25-1.28 for new; 1.25-1.34 for Milwaukee club; 1.35-1.45 for Iowa amber; 1.37-1.45 for winter red. Corn market excited and 1a2c better. Oats less firm at 35-38.

Stocks active and better. Money 6, and Sterling quiet, at 55 bankers' bills. Gold 149 1/2.

UTILITY OF STEAM FIRE ENGINES.—The three steam fire engines yesterday only repaid their original cost, $15,000, by the quantity of saved property to the amount of $100,000. If the fire had reached the benzine magazine, in the rear, and not twenty feet from the burning store, the explosion would have been terrible, and would have enveloped the whole of that valuable block in flames. Nothing but the enormous floods of water which a steam engine can pour on a burning building, could have saved that magazine of explosives. When we witness the powerful workings of these little monsters, it is an amazement that our city council so long delayed to purchase machines so indispensable. Milwaukee Wisconsin of Friday.

The New York Tribune of Tuesday says: "As near as can be ascertained at present, 11,671 drafted men have reported to the provost marshals in the city, of whom 2,393 were said to be soldiers, and 1,674 furnished substitutes, 7,699 men have been exempted on account of physical disability, and for other causes. A large number of the men held for service were granted furloughs in order to enable them to procure substitutes. Their negligence to report for duty will result in their arrest as deserters."

Letter from Chattanooga.

Special Correspondence of the Nashville Union.

CHATTANOOGA, Oct. 6.
As your readers are desirous of knowing the list of casualties on our side, at the battle of Chickamauga, I will say that our entire loss in killed, wounded and missing, amounts to 15,450—rebel loss estimated at 22,500. This may seem very strange to many, and less might be dubious and inquire why the rebels should lose so many. I will truly say that they were on the offensive, while we were on the defensive, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. They attacked our left, right, and center, each day, with terrific slaughter to themselves as well as to us, in attempting to capture our batteries while they were double-shotted with grape and canister.

"Anxiety," I understand, is the prominent "feeling of the day" at Nashville, and lost his influence, together with "grapevines," should predominate, I hasten to inform you that the Army of the Cumberland, up to the present, is all right, and "right side up." To be sure, our forces at McMillanville have been repulsed, some of our troops captured, and a total annihilation of our forces prognosticated; still we hold our own, are now in possession of McMillanville, have captured 525 of our own captives, and hold our own. Gen. Wharton, who headed the rebels, has lost three of his staff, two wounded and one killed, all in our hands.

Our force captured at McMillanville was composed of the following regiments: 2d Indiana, 2d Ohio, 1st Wisconsin, 4th East Tennessee, and a small force, say two battalions, the 2d East Tennessee.

The bridge at Cripple Creek has been burned by the rebels, but will be all right to-morrow, if not to-day.

TERMS PROPOSED BY THE ARCHDUKE MAXIMILIAN.—The Mexican expedition which will formally offer Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian the imperial crown, voted by the assembly of notables, is expected to arrive here in a few days. It is asserted that the Archduke is greatly disposed to accept the offer; but it is a mistake to suppose that he will accept it unconditionally. He is firmly determined only to ascend the throne provided the powers interested in upholding the balance of power by the creation of a monarch in the American republic, and the preservation of the subjugation of Europe by America, will fulfill such conditions as he may demand.

These conditions are:
1. Guarantee of the throne by the three powers who originally undertook the Mexican expedition (England, France and Spain)—that is to say, that they shall undertake to support the monarchy by force of arms in case of danger from within or without.
2. That all the Mexican municipalities shall declare themselves by free vote satisfied with the establishment of a monarchy and the choice of an Austrian Prince.

Upon these conditions, and as we are positively assured, upon these conditions only, Archduke Ferdinand Maximilian will set out for Mexico.—Vienna Press, Sept. 14th.

THE QUESTION ANSWERED.—Somebody—a woman, of course—quires why, when Eve was manufactured from a spare-rib, a servant wasn't made at the same time, to wait on her? Somebody else—a woman, we imagine—replies in the following strain:
Because Adam never came whining to Eve with a ragged stick to be darned, collar string to be sewed on, or a glove to mend "right away, quick now!" Because he never read the newspaper until the sun got down behind the palm trees, and then, stretching himself out, yawned out, "Ain't supper most ready, my dear?" Not he! He made the fire, and hung the kettle over it himself, well venturing, and did everything else he ought to do. He milked the cows, fed the chickens, and looked after the pigs, fed the hogs, and brought home half a dozen friends to dinner when Eve hadn't a crust of bread, and the mango season was over. He never stayed out till 11 o'clock to a ward meeting, harrumphing for an out-and-out candidate, and then scolding because poor Eve was sitting up and crying inside the gates. He never played billiards, rolled ten-pins and drove fast horses, nor choked Eve with cigar smoke. He never loitered around corner groceries while Eve was rocking little Cain's cradle at home. In short, he didn't think she was especially created for the purpose of waiting on him, and wasn't under the impression that it disgraced a man to lighten a wife's cares a little. That's the reason that Eve did not need a hired girl; and with this was the reason that her fair descendants did.

In Australia it is summer in January and winter in July. It is noon there when it is midnight in Europe. The longest day is in December. The heat comes from the north, the cold from the south, and it is hottest on the mountain tops. The swans are black, the eagles are white; the bees do not sting, and the birds do not sing. The cherries have no stones; the trees give no shadow, for their leaves turn edge-ways to the sun, and some of its quadrupeds have a beak and lay eggs!

Indigo has been very scarce and high, owing to the large demand recently for blue army cloth. Good Bengal indigo is now worth $2 per pound. Let some Yankee discover a substitute for it, equally good but cheaper, and his fortune will be made.

Brig. Gen. T. W. Sherman, severely wounded at Port Hudson, is "so as to be out" in Newport, and has become quite used to his crutches.

Twenty-two divorces were decreed by the supreme court of Rhode Island on Friday. Twelve wives were divorced from their husbands, and ten "other way."

Xale College has 613 students this term, of whom 109 are seniors, 102 juniors, 122 sophomores, 133 freshmen, 25 theological, 23 law, 60 medical and 55 scientific.

COMMENT IS NECESSARY.—Rev. M. T. Fitch, of Chattanooga, N.Y., writes: "I am sixty years of age. By the use of Mrs. A. Allen's World's Life Restorer, my gray hair is restored to its natural color. I am satisfied it is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. My hair ceases to fall. Your hair does not fall superior to 10 others. For eruptions it has no equal."

Sold by druggists everywhere. Depot, 159 Greenwich street, New York.
